Autocrat of All the Russias Gives His Approval of Zemsky-Zabor.

News Creates Intense Satisfaction Among the Liberal Classes of St. Petersburg-Some Skepticism Still Dwells in Minds of Russians-Warsaw's Chief of Police Says Strikers Must Work or Go.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.]

T. PETERSBURG, Feb. 12, Midnight.-[By Atlantic Cable.] The news that Emperor Nicholas has indorsed the scheme for the revival of the Zemsky Zabor, or ancient Land Parliament, has spread through the city and created intense satisfaction among the liberal classes. The newspapers this morning were filled with articles descriptive of this ancient Russian institution, indicating that word had gone forth that the government had decided to listen to the voice of representatives of the people,

Naturally there is some skepticism as to whether the government intends frankly to take the step, but the general verdict is that if the Emperor has succeeded in shaking off reactionary influences and now proceeds in good faith to summon the Zemsky Zabor, he will rally to his support the Moderate Liberals and perhaps arouse a wave of genuine enthusiasm in the country.

Liberals are convinced that a meeting of such a body must be followed by reforms.

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the producers and others interested here assembled that the State of Kansas is entitled to sympathy and moral support of the oil trade everywhere, in its contest with the Standard Oil Company.

"That in the recent action of the said company in promulgating the extraordinary order suspending operations in the Kansas oil field it has violated high class business privatelys and been guilty of an act that is against good public policy.

"That, in view of the fact that the rule of equal rights has been ignored by the company, we hop e that the State will see that the independent producers have a square deal and are supported in a substantial manner in their efforts to obtain relief from an oppressive

"That, in maintaining their priority rights, they should receive all necessary aid not only from the State, but from oil producers in all other fields."

WHAT THE TRUST SAYS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 12.-[Exclusive Dispatch.] According to B W. J. Young, president of the Prairie State Oil and Gas Co. and head of the Standard Oil Co. in Kansas, the oil trust proposes to close all its plants in Kansas,

"The situation is in such a turmoil in Kansas," Young said, "that we could do nothing but suspend operations until some plan of business is evolved out of chaos. The closing of the plants and shutting down of the pipe lines will let the legislators and the people see what adverse legislation will do to the industries of the State, and will probably create sentiment among the people in favor of the State abandon ing the plan of entering the oil business."

for Edward Corrigan, a turf war was started today between the New Orleans Jockey Club and the Crescent Jockey Club and the Crescent Jockey Club.

Manager Renaud began the fight by issuing free tickets and badges to the fairgrounds. Last Saturday and today the owners of the City Park track distributed several hundred specially-printed tickets for one week, ending next Sunday. Tonight th town is flooded with tickets to both tracks, as every man wanting a badge can get one. There is surprise that the Lew Orleans Jockey Club followed the example set by the Bush-Benaud combinations.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The President will leave Washington tomorrow for a two days' visit to New York, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Secretary and Mrs. Tatt, Mrs. Cowles, Mr, and Mrs. Emilin Roos.velt, who have been guests at the White House, and Secretary Look. As soon as he arrives at the metropolis, the New York Republican Club will take charge of the Chief Magistrate and escort him to the clubhouse, where he will receive the members of the organization informally and rest until time to go to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel for the Lincoln Day address, the President will attend the PressoClub banquet at the New Astor House.
Tuesday, the President will divide his time between visits with friends and relatives, and a luncheon at the University Club and a dinner with the Hungarian Republican Club at "Liftet Hungary." The Hungarian Club entertained the Pressident when he was Governor of New York, and on that occasion he promised to join its members again if he ever became a President. This promise, made in fun, will thus be kept in earnest. He will depart at midnight Tuesday for Washington. PRESIDENTS ENTERTAINMENT.

It is also stated the report will contain a recommendation that all money of the State University be under the control of the Board of Examiners, the same as the money for other State institutions. In the Turner case, whereby the money advanced on the mortgage to Turner was lost, it was found that the fault did not lie with the Board of Regents, but with the attorney for the board, who field office at that time.

Assemblyman Gates's bill prohibiting professors of the university giving indorsement to any commodity or using the university laboratories or apparatus for anything out school work will be considered next Tuesday by the University Committee. A number of professors of the university have been invited to attend this meeting. It was through the efforts of Assemblyman Waste that an opportunity was given them to present their side. A warm debate is looked for.

Woman suffrage will occupy the attention of the Senate Tuesday morning, the petition to have a constitutional amendment presented to the people coming up at that the Mmes. Osborne and Sperry, who have been conducting the fight, here, are very hopeful of carrying the measure. They lost three votes, however, because of the livestigation of Senators Emmons, French, Bunkers and Wright. Of the four, only Senator Bunkers was opposed to granting women equal rights with man, and he was on the point of conversion, they say, when the crash came.

TACOMA (Wash.) Feb. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Hilton Nixon of Roy, 25 years old, was sent to an insane asylum at Stellaccom yesterday, his mental infirmity resulting from a cyclone twenty-five years ago.

Nixon was born on a Kansas farm. When 3 years old, a cyclone destroyed the Nixon home, twisting the house into fragments assi scattering the debris. The child was in the cradle in the house. Pieces of the cradle were found, after the cyclone had passed, but it was three hours before a trace of the boy was found. Then he was discovered in the top of a bottowood tree, 300 yards from the spot where the house had stood. The wind had lifted the child to the top of the tree, where its clothing became changled in the branches.

ARBITRATION PROPAGANDA

President Disappoints Foster Regarding the Treaties.

Views of Chief Executive and Senate Differ.

Forecast of the Two Houses. Tributes to Hoar.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—John W. Poster, president of the National Arbitration conference which has been conducting an active propaganda in behalf of arbitration of international disputes, today made the following statements bearing on the action of the Senate in amending the arbitration treaties between the United States and treaties between the United States and eight European governments. Mr. Foster said he was greatly disappointed at the result so far attained in the effort, to commit the United States to the principle of arbitraticn. He had labored to secure the approval of the treaties by the Senate without amendment, because he considered the word "agreement," in article 2 of the conventions, as having the same significance in international law as the word "treaty." But when this matter was brought into doubt, he regarded the Senate as jus-But when this matter was brought into doubt, he regarded the Senate as jus-tified in making this clear by amend-ment, as he never contemplated that the President would have the power under the treaties to make an agree-ment to submit a case to The Hague court without the advice of the co-ordinate branch of the treaty making sower.

ordinate branch of the treaty making power.

It is most unfortunate, he said, that there should arise an apparent divergence of views between the Chief Lx-ecutive and the Senate. The matter is now in the hands of the President, and, Mr. Foster said, be had greet confidence that the Executive who had shown himself the most ardent friend of arbitration and had brought the warring nations in the Venezuela trouble to The Hague and thus rendered the cause of arbitration the greatest service of any man of his generation, would find a way to reconcile the existing differences and save the United States from becoming the most backward of the mations in the cause of international peace.

Mr. Foster said he was authorized to give out the following telegram from Andrew Carnegie:

"NEW YORK, Peb. 12, 1905.—Hon.

cause of international peace.

Mr. Foster said he was authorized to give out the following telegram from Andrew Carnegie:

"NEW YORK, Feb. 12, 1905.—Hon. John W. Foster, Washington, D. C.: You can truly say that I am forced to see that the Senate only did its duty. I coeld not have done otherwise than yote with the majority, though with such refuctance as Senators Lodge, Spooner, Cul.om and other expressed. The absentees from voting are as significant as the overwhelming vote. I know the President and Secretary of State are just as clear and honest in their convictions as the Senate is. The Senate might adopt a rule to give specific treaties submitted instant consideration, and then foreign powers would not have to wait. Surely something can be done that will harmonize the two parties anxious to promote the same noble end.

[Signed]

Mr. Foster further said that Hon. Wayne MacVeagh, former Attorney-General, had authorized him to make public the following statement of his views concerning the constitutional question involved:

"The language of our Constitution framed by the wisdom of our fathers, is exceptionally plain and imperative as to the treaty-making power. It requires as a condition precedent to the making of any treaty—and every agreement between this country and any foreign power should be considered a reety, because the Constitution so calls it—that it should be submitted to the Senate and that two-thirds of the Senate and that two-thirds of the Senate and that two-thirds of the supreme law of the land? If so, our 'supreme law' would be subjected to the caprice of every successor of President alone on the subjected to the caprice of every successor of President Roosevelt, and the wise men who framed the Constitution knew it would be unsafe to intrust the law-making power to any one man.

"The language of the Supreme Court on the subject is very emphatic, as making power to any one man.

"The language of the Supreme Court on the subject is very emphatic, as follows: It need hardly be said that a fresty cannot challenge the Constitution, or be held valid, if in violation of that instrument. This results from the nature and fundamental principles of our government."

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The action of the Senate during the present week will be divided between the Swayne impeachment and the Agricultural Appropriation Bill. The bill is still under discussion, and as soon as it is disposed of, the bill making appropriations for the District of Columbia will be taken up.

The Naval Appropriation Bill will be taken up by the House Monday, as soon as the legislation for the District of Columbia has been disposed of. The naval bill will be attacked on several grounds. Issue is to be taken with the committee in its provision for new ships. The topic for armorpiate contracts is to fill its accustomed place on the programme, while submarine boats and torpedo boats are to form the basis of offensive and defensive argument. The best estimate that can be made is that at least four days will be consumed in getting legislative action on this bill in the House. It is to be followed immediately by the Rivers and Harbors Bill. Should the decks be cleared at any time, the proposed legislation on the Panama Canal project will be discussed.

When men are once brought to Christ they are put in heaven's kindergarten, which is the church where they work out their own salvation; where under a Father's care and discipline, they are developed into fitness for a wider service in God's great universe. It is no discredit, but rather the glory of the church, that it is filled with the maimed, the wounded and the sore, and that it is ministering to the need of the weak and helpless of earth. ALBANY (N. Y.) Feb. 12.—Alty.-Gen. Mayer tonight made public the report of Tracy C. Becker of Buffalo, who, as special Deputy Attorney-General investigated the insolvency of the German Bank of Buffalo, The bank, according to the report of Hecker, passed into the control of Arthur E. Appleyard is said to have been the promoter of steam and electric railway corporations operating about Dayton and Columbus, O., and is alleged to have obtained control of banks in New Jersey and Pennsylvania before acquiring the stock of the Buffalo institution.

Almost immediately after buying the German Bank stock, Appleyard is said to have borrowed money in large quantities from the bank. It is alleged that he "kited" checks and drafts on it, and through it with the various banks with which he was connected until, when the bank was closed December 5, 1994, Appleyard and his interests were indebted to the bank in the sum of more debted to the bank in the sum of more than $562,000.

These loans, discounts and drafts of Appleyard and his corporations purported to be secured in part by bonds of several railway companies. Since the failure of the bank, nearly all these companies have been placed in the hands of receivers, and the securities are alleged to be practically worthless are alleged to be practically worthless, and consequently attracted the savings of thousands of depositors.

Three of the directors, said to be under Applegates influence, are charged with wilfully failing to perform their duties as directors.

own track at an acute angle until the two big locomotives were within a lew feet of each other. Then McClure reversed, applied his air and jumped only a moment before the crash came. From the other side of the cab McNelli jumped just in the nick of time. The cab of the switch engine was rushed like an egg-shell and the big hrobbing piece of machinery was hurled to one side by the force of the mapact. The make-up engine was lerailed and the front portion of the make was twisted and wrecked. Freight cars were jumbled together nodiscriminately and a large section of rack was torn up.

A wrecking crew was on the scene in a few moments and the wreck was guickly cleared.

MURPHY MEETING.

Army. Army.

With a Superfor judge presiding, bright lawyers speaking from the platform, the old war-horse himself in the plate of condition, and an audisence that macked Bharchard Hall until there was not even standing-room, Francis Murphy's gospel temperance meeting was a remarkable one. Men and women flocked up to sign the pledge, and having done so, strong men wept like children.

speakers couldn't see why this was not a revival meeting, insanuch as men were changing the course of their lives and accepting Christ.

In fact, the great work being done by Francis Murphy and his devoted wife is a constant revival, for they are literally besieged at their home and everywhere they go by men who want to sign the piedge under their personal administration. Within the past month there have been between thirty and forty such, as many as sig in a single day.

Judge Waldo S. York, who presided at the meeting, said: "I do not believe that any man ever lived in this country who has saved so many men as Francis Murphy, and it seems to me that God sent him here to live where the field is so fruitful, and where so much has been accomplished by him for temperance and morality."

Judge York began by expressing his strong sympathy with the work and his abhorrence for strong frink, because he was in a position to see so much of its evil: influence and because of other experiences with men who were slaves to drink, and he predicted for the not far-distant future a wonderful advance in temperance sentiment in Los Angeles.

In speaking of intoxication among lawyers, he told of a former law partner, whom he called "George." Despite all his remonstrances, George continued to drink, and it was his favorite expression that a man was a hopeless lunatic for perhaps thirty years.

"The saying that a man can drink set it alone is absolutely absurd."

hopeless lunatic for perhaps thirty years.

"The saying that a man can-drink or let it alone is absolutely absurd," said Judge York. "Those who succeed in saving themselves ruin many others. I have heard it said that beer would not cause insanity, but I went into an investigation for my own satisfaction and found that there are more cases of insanity in the asylums from the effects of beer-drinking than from any other single cause."

Attorney H. J. Stevens, who was introduced by Judge York with a high compliment to his integrity and ability, told of another lawyer, one of his heyday companions, who is now in the asylum from the effects of drink; but his strong plea to young men touched no their pride. He pleaded with them to forget their foolish pride and come and do as he is doing Referring to the man now in the asylum he said:

"Thousands of warm friends this young man had, of whom I am proud to say I was one, but now he is shadward in the awful gloom of hopeless in the hope that you may have the courage to come up here tonight and sign this piedge."

Mr. Stevens made a long and eloquent plea, and that he hit the mark was proven by the recruits he won at the close of the meeting.

Carlisle Wynne, an attorney who signed the piedge soon after Mr. Stevens, added his strong testimony and said that while he did not claim to be a paragon of Christianity, he was most profoundly impressed with the work Mr. and Mrs. Murphy accomplished in the Thursday night prayer meeting. He said there was something to be had there that made a man stick. He gave some common-sense advice to damages by the British government for losses.

Just prior to the breaking out of the Boer War. Searelle was a pronounced British sympathizer, and was deep in the schemes of the revolutionists at the time of Jameson's raid. Among other acts in favor of the uprising, he purchased several thousand stands of arms aid concealed them under the stages of his Johannesburg theater. A Boer stage hand discovered the secret of the hidden rifles, and informed President Kruger. Not only were the arms confiscated and used against the Engilsh later, but all of Searelle's estate was taken by the government, and he was sentenced to be shot. Powerful friends mitigated his sentence, so that he was allowed to escape in company with John Hays Hammond to this country, but his property was all hapt by Boers.

Searelle put in a claim at the end of the war, and it has been hung up ever since. Meanwhile Searelle has been very poor, and when he fell ill here two weeks ago, his friends had to guarantee his expenses at the hospital. It is feared that he is dying, and that he will never enjoy his fortune.

Ice was forced up on top of the barges so fast that the men were kept busy pushing back the large cakes to prevent the two crafts from overturning. The captain of the steamer Franklin Edson of the Department of Charities and Corrections became aware of the barges' predicament, and, ordering; full steam ahead, forced his vessel through the ice to the aid of the endangered occupants. After great effort, the Edson tied up alongside the barges and the women and children were taken aboard.

Evidently Knabenshue decided not to make an attempt to fly back home, for he proceeded to keep an engagement he had made with his friend, Henry Case of South Catalina avenue, in Pasadena. Case spread a sheet in his yard so that the flying-machine man might locate him. Knabenshue followed the asphalt pavement of Colorado street, finally located the sheet and dropped on a vacant lot adjoining the Case home. He spent the night in Pasadena and will return to Los Angeles today.

NSWERED HIS LAST ALARM:

FIRE DEPARTMENT LOSES AN EFFICIENT MEMBER.

Capt. J. Clinton Johnson of the No. 8 engine company, one of the best men in the Los Angeles fire department, died at $430 o'clock last night at his home, No. 2630 Peabody avenue, after an iliness of many months, directly due to exposure to which he was subjected in his line of duty.

Had he lived until next May he would have been eighteen years a member of the department, and during that period he has seen it grow from a small beginning to one of the best equipped and most efficient in the West, and he has helped to conquer some of the most serious fires which ever broke out in the city.

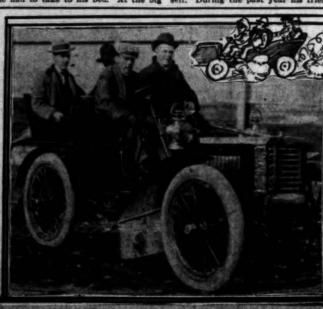

The lilness of Capt. Johnson dates from the tragic fire on Commercial and Alameda streets six years ago, when the plant of the Los Angeles Farming and Milling Company was destroyed and four men lost their lives. He was on duty for forty hours without rest and when relieved he had to take to his bed. At the life became aware that he would not long be with them, but although he was at times very sick, he remained on duty as long as he could. Capt. Johnson was a native of Somerset, O., and was in his thirty-eighth year. He became a member of the Los Angeles fire department in May, 1887, when he was appointed as callman. Two years later he became a regular fireman and in 1811 was appointed driver of the No. 5 engine company. Two years later he was transferred to the No. 8 engine company, then the headquarters company. He was promoted to the rank of lieutenant of the second class January 31, 1999, and assigned to the No. 4 hose company. His commission as lieutenant of the first class dates from January 1, 1902, and in September of that year he was appointed to the position of captain and assigned to the No. 8 engine company. He was a member of West End Lodge, No. 389, LO.O.F. and the members of that lodge will have charge of the funeral, the arrangements for which have not been made.

ever it might be, it was impervious to water and the adherence of barnacles and other parasites of the deep.

If the component parts of the substance could be discovered and the principle applied to water craft it would have a tendency to increase the speed at a saving in fuel and naturally bring about sharper competition in transportation and be a benefit of untold value commercially.

Mr. Ross, not being a practical chemist, found great difficulties in his research, but was undaunted, and from his investigations concluded the basic principle was glue. Ordinary glue will not withstand the action of water for any considerable time, so the knowledge of the other constituents was necessary, and this knowledge Rouscialms to possess, but withholds it from the public pending a practical demonstration, when, he declares, he will give it to the world, provided his theories are correct.

The discoverer claims that the combination will adhere to ship bottoms. If this is true and it proves impervious to barnacles and lasts for any length of time, its value to seagoing vessels cannot be calculated.

It is claimed that the combination is impervoius to moisture and is a preservative. Here again will its value be enormous to builders of sky scrapers.

frequent intervals and to close it en-tirely for the long periods necessitated by repairs. For the country to be plerced is not solid rock, nor even good honest clay, but, geologically speaking, it is folded, faulted, shattered—eruptive, and even now not wholly free from earthquake disturbances.

Then again, with a sea-level canal, not only would the cost of maintenance be vastly increased, but the facilities of navigation would, in actual fact, be in-ferior to those provided by a canal ecuipped with locks. These latter, ob-structions though they be, are much less objectionable than the curves of short radius unavoidable in the sea-level protect for such curves, when the short radius unavoicable in the sea-level project, for such curves, when the wind blows from the side or from the rear, render navigation both tedious and dangerous. Purthermore, consid-eration has to be taken of the Chagres River, whose floods would be a menace to shipping in an open canal, but by the alternative lock system would be under perfect control, the summit lake being made high enough and large enough to receive the surplus waters.

Lastly, by no engineering device, nor at any expenditure however lavish, can the question of locks be entirely eliminated from the problem. Even with a sea-level canal there must be a lock to lic, from whom emanate all power and all authority.

As to the idea that the railroads will evade the law's intent, if it be not to their liking, by secret rebates and other forms of trickery, it does not follow that because they have done so in the past they will conjunct to do so in the future. These evasions have never been punished with sufficient penalties. The penalties can easily be increased, and greater publicity of the transportation business can be enforced. After a few recalcitrant railway officials shall have been sent to the penitentiary for long terms, perhaps the conclusion will be reached that secret rebates and other violations of law are not so profitable an expedient as had been imagined.

There is a way of attaining the ends demanded in the interest of public justice, and this way will average he forced. The argument is indorsed by the editors of the Engineering Magazine, who admit that the conclusion arrived at against a seature of the lock system connected the tidal oscillation, about twenty feet, of the Pacific, so, with this control the tidal oscillation, about twenty feet, of the Pacific, so, with this or it was not an admitten accessity, the addition of four others becomes less open to criticism. This institution teaches, principally, agriculture, the mechanical mission, while dealing with the actual works now in progress, makes an incidental reference that gives additional weight to Gen. Abbott's views. "That the element of risk," says Mr. Grunsky, "is not all in favor of the canal which "is not all in favor of the canal which is free from locks will at once be realized by every engineer who visits the points of maximum cut, noting the shattered and unstable formation, where landslides, if occurring, might seriously and for long periods of time impede traffic, and where the magnitude and seriousness of such an obstruction, and consequent interruption of traffic, should it ever occur, must be assumed to grow with the depth of the cut." The position thus defined is that a canal on the hydraulic system, as originally designed by the American engineers, surpasses the old French scalevel plan at once on the grounds of practicability, cheapness of construction, quickness of completion, economy of maintenance, and ease and safety of navigation. The list of advantages is a formidable one for the advocates of the alternative scheme to set aside or invalidate.

If this material is to reach Vladivostok before the close of navigation in October next, the Russian government must therefore provide not less than fifty vessels of 5000 tons or more, and they must be sailing at the rate of three or four a week from San Francicco or Puget Sound during the entire summer.

than fifty vessels of 5000 tons or more, and they must be sailing at the rate of three or four a week from San Francisco or Puget Sound during the entire summer.

A hundred thousand tons of rails are equivalent to about 1900 miles of railway track, and what does Russia in tend to do with them? On this subject the few people who are aware of the transaction have no information. Mr. Vilankine has not been informed of the intentions of his government, but there is plenty of room for speculation.

It is the prevailing opinion that this enormous order, the largest ever placed with any manufacturing company in the United States from a foreign country, means the early restoration of pence. A Senator from a Northwestern as state, who was one of the first persons in Washington to learn the news, prevailed that, within the next three months, the war will end and that the Russian government will be busy restoration of the salvance of commercialism in these days over diplomacy. There is nothing on the horizon, from a diplomatic point of view, to indicate an early settlement of the conflict. No negotiations are under way or even contemplated at this moment, so far as the public or the officials of our government are aware.

Dakota, and allowing a homestead entryman to take up a square mile of land instead of 160 acres.

Senator Gibson stated to the President that he believed a 640-acre-homestead policy was one of the most dangerous and menacing pieces of legislation which had been suggested. He said that it was proposed to open up the rich western lands in these large tracts, and that it would result in the aggregation of great holdings, far worse than anything of the kind which had yet occurred.

No man can say at this time, Senator Gibson declared, what are purely irredeemable grazing lands, and what are agricultural ands. Great tracts of country are being cultivated today in small farms, which ten years ago were looked upon as utterly worthless, and the womb of the future certainly contains even greater surprises. Under our increasing knowledge of conditions, improving methods of agriculture and the constant discovery and introduction by the Department of Agriculture of arid-land crops, we are making wonderful progress, and why, Senator Gibson pleaded, should we check this great land-producing development by bringing upon our western country the curse of further great land holdings. No man, he stated, can as successfully farm a square mile as he can 160 acres, and to give men 640 acres would mean that in most cases they would not struggle with the soil and with new crops and succeed in growing anything upon it: it would simply support a few head of cattle or a small band of sheep, Senator Gibson told the President that he spoke from a thirty years' residence and an active and practical farm experience in Montana.

In November last a great-grandson was born to the Sardar Bahadur, being the grandson (son's son) of his elder son, S. Devi Sahai. According to Hindu scriptures the old lady has attained salvation, and on death will go to the region of the goods and enter among them. She has in honor of the birth undergone a unique ceremony called Svarga Sopanarohanam (rising to heaven by means of a ladder.) Numerous ladies and gentlemen gathered to witness it. A platforn was arranged by the family priest, and she took her seat there after a bath in the water of the Ganges. After a two hours' service of thanksgiving a heap of rice was put before her, on which was placed a small ladder of gold. The new-born child was then brought in and piaced in the lap of the lady, who saw him for the first time, and offered thanks to heaven for enabling her to see her great-grandson's son. She then put her right foot on the first rung of the ladder, and there were cheers all around, and flowers were showered on her by all members of the family and friends Brass instruments were played and hymns sung. This over, she "gifted" gold, money, grain and clothing for the poor and needy. Each of the assembly then pagesed around her. Even the oldest people in Amritsar say that such a ceremony was never seen before. It certainly happens rarely that five generations are alive at one time in the same family.—(Civil and Military Gasette.

New Wash Fabrics

The latest styles for Spring are now on display. Designs and colorings are quite out of the ordinary. The entire assortment has been unusually well selected. It represents the choicest productions of two Continents.

The Cotton Mohairs—shown in one of our south windows—attracted much attention last week. Many thought them wool, and were surprised to learn that they could be bought for 35c yd. Checks, solid colors, fancy mixes; all the new colorings. Among the stapler wash weaves may be mentioned Percales—36 inches wide—light and dark colorings, including the new brown shades so popular for shirt waist suits. The value is 15c, the price 12jc.

The corded French Madras at 20c is meeting ready sale.

New Galasteas Perhaps the most

HAMBURGERS BEAT OWL AND VENTURA TEAMS.

Busher Hall for Ventura Was Wild as a Statesman, While C. McDon-ald Pitched Steady Ball All the Cavort as of Old.

Encouraged by the cheers of scores of friends and admirers, the champion Hamburger team of the Winter League won two games easily at Piesta Park good team from ventura was supposed to ahine, but it didn't scintillate very much on McDonald's pitching, for he allowed the Bean Pickers but five hits. The Hamburgers got only seven be-cause they were up against Busher Charley Hall of the Seattle Coast burched on him in the third and two singles came in the sixth, but aside from these two periods he pitched good ball. After two were out in the second scoring on an error by Pitcher Champlon.

All of the members of the Ventura team did not appear on the field, and to fill up the gaps Smiley played short, Courtney second base and George Bowman left field. The best player on the team seems to be C. Johnson on first these: he is quick on his feet and full of ginger, but couldn't get a hit off McDonald. About the only Ventura man that could was Kaiser, center fielder, who hit a single and a two-bagger over the left fence. George Bowman got two singles and Courtney the other one, McDonald holding the balance safe at all times. Two of the Hamburger runs were made legitimately, and the other was due to two errors and a single. Ventura got its first run on Bowman's single, a bad error by McDonald and a run home after the catch of a fly, and the second came on a pase, a steel, Snodgras.'s

O FOR MEASURING.

SOUTH COASTERS CONSIDERING THEIR ADOPTION.

Formula Adopted by the Leading Organizations of the United States is Likely to be Asked by the Local

BY STINSON JARVIS. Since the exclusive announcement made by The Times about the fiew American measurement rule for racing yachts, several members of the South formula which has been agreed to by the principal yachting organizations of the United States. Former Commo-dore Joseph Pugh, one of the principal stockholders in the club, said yesterday that since the above annot loy someone nighly skilled in mathe-natics, probably some university proof improvement. Every rule that has ever been devised to tax the salling power of yachts has been beaten by some designer. Someone has always proved able to develop in a new direction and acquire increased sailing power that did not come within the measurement for the calculation of time allowance. It was Nat Herreshoff himself who beat the existing rule in 1891, when his new Glorians audienly appeared in a fleet of mine brand-new forty-sixes—she showing for the first time the long forward overhang that altered the form of all subsequent racing yachts. Before Glorians came back to her finish from the seaway off Sandy Hook every hope of the rest of the fleet was dead and buried. These boats were all annihilated in their first race. In this great scoop, and in the adapting of Columbia and Reliance from the little winners of the Seawanhaka Cup, Herreshoff has shown himself to be exceedingly skiliful, and it will remain to be seen whether the scheme for beating the new rule (his own) is not already up his sleeve.

The present proposal is for the sake of uniformity, to prevent the absurdity of having yachts sail under different penalties and time allowances in different clubs, and the universal agreement or understanding is that this formula will not be attacked, or at least stot altered, for the space of five years. One advantage to be gained is that, although boats hereafter to be launched will be subject to the full taxations as above defined, all the older crafts take their full rating under the rule, but are not penalized for exceeding certain arbitary limits, which are not thought of at the time they were designed. It is said that this will put a heavy

York and Shelter Island, expresses the opinion that boats built five or ten years ago should stand very good chances in future races. With new salls and up-to-date rigging.

For all new boats, one of the most acceptable points of the new regime is that it dispenses with that perennial and laborious nuisance, the calculation of the respective time allowances.

Cuban Auto Wins. HAVANA, Feb. 12.—The first inter-national automobile race run in Cuba was won today, the car owned by a Cuban, E. K. Conill, and driven by a Cuban, Ernesto Carricaburn, defeating C. J. S. Miller's car, driven by Joseph Tracy, by 1:32%.

A party of hunters who returned reently from a sojourn in the wilds North Carolina tell many stories

Under these circumstances the party made arrangements to do the rowing themselves, and were consequently astensished when the guide, stepping into the boat, seated trimself at the oars and prepared to be the motive power. "Why," exclaimed one of the party, "I thought you said you couldn't row." The guide was plainly puzzled, and could be heard to repeat to himself several times "Ro? Ro's??

"I reck'n'd you all meant ro' like a lion. I cain't do that. But pull an o' why, I've done that all my life. I shorely can pull an o'."

The Wedding Ring.

The wedding ring was placed on the left hand as nearest the heart, and on the fourth finger because that finger was supposed to have its own "private wire" (in the shape of a delicate nerve) to the heart.

That finger, too, was called the medicine finger, and the belief was that by virtue of the little nerve it could detect a dangerous poison if simply inserted in the liquid. From that belief the idea that weddings rings—the rings worn on that finger—have special curative qualities had its rise. To this day wedding rings are rubbed over an obstinate sty on an eyelid—[London]

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SAN DIEGO, Feb. 12.—[Exclusion of the Control of t Dispatch.] Capt. J. L. Sehon, U.S.A. (retired.) who was a delegate in the late City Council and who has been looked upon as the leader of the movement for securing an additional water piant in the upper lands of San Diego River Valley, announces himself as an independent candidate for Mayor. He is considered as "anti-machine" and "anti-corporation" and his supported in strong backing for him. Efforts of his constituency to secure his appointment to the temporary City Council appointed by the Governor failed.

LIQUOR MAN WANTS OUT.
William A. Anderson has brought habeas corpus proceedings to secure his release from the jail at Imperial. He was arrested for selling liquor. The jury which heard the evidence failed to agree and was discharged. Anderson demanded another trial, but was resued by Recorder Peck requiring him to put up $250 to secure release, since which he has been in jail.

SOUTH COASTERS CONSIDERING

Formula Adopted by the Leading Organizations of the United States is Likely to be Asked by the Local ion-Its Advantages Man-

BY STINSON JARVIS.

Since the exclusive anhouncemen made by The Times about the few American measurement rule for racing yachts, several members of the South Coast Yacht Club have admitted that the local institution would certainly have to fall into line and adopt the formula which has been agreed to by the principal yachting organisations of the United States. Former Commo-dore Joseph Pugh, one of the principal stockholders in the club, said yesterday that since the above announ it had been under contempation to em-ploy someone nighty skilled in mathe-matics, probably some university pro-fessor, to be the official measurer of the club. He appreciates the fact that in the coming seasons there will be a matics, probably some university professor, to be the official measurer of the club. He appreciates the fact that in the coming seasons there will be a large amount of figuring to be done, and it is proposed to make the new official an honorary member of the club and let him issue the certificates, from which there will be no appeal.

The new formula comes from a source which in the last fourteen yeass has been famous—from Nat Herreshoff, the designer of the Gloriana and Wasp, and the adapter of Columbia and Reliance; but it is not suggested by him or by anyone else that this is the last thing in the way of measurement formulae, or that this product is incapable of improvement. Every rule that has ever been devised to tax the sailing power of yachts has been beaten by some designer. Someone has always proved able to develop in a new direction and acquire increased sailing power that did not come within the measurement for the calculation of time allowance. It was Nat Herreshoff himself who beat the existing rule in 1891, when his new Gloriana sud-tenity appeared in a fleet of mine brand-new forty-sixes—she showing for the first time the long forward overhang that altered the form of all subsequent racing yachts. Before Gloriana came back to her finish from the seaway off Sandy Hook every hope of the rest of the fleet was dead and buried. These boats were all annihilated in their first race. In this great scoop, and in the adapting of Columbia and Reliance from the little winners of the Seawanhaka Cup, Herreshoff has shown himself to be exceedingly skillful, and it will remain to be seen whether the scheme for beating the new rule (his own) is not already up his sieeve.

The present proposal is for the sake of uniformity, to prevent the absurdity of having yachts sail under different penalities and time allowances in different clubs, and the universal agreement or understanding is that this formula will not be attacked, or at least stot altered, for the space of five years. One advantage to be gained is that, al handicap on new boats, and that it will take exceedingly clever designing to win against some of the racers now in existence. Charles L. Poor, a well-known yachtman of New York and Shelter Island, expresses the opinion that boats built five or ten years ago should stand very good chances in future races. With new sails and up-to-date rigging.

For all new boats, one of the most acceptable points of the new regime is that it dispenses with that perennial and laborious nuisance, the calculation of the respective time allowances.

Since Charles Wagner returned from merica the Parisians have begun to ead "The Simple Life." A literary read "The Simple Life." A literary goosiper says:

"Mr. Wagner's following in Prance heretofore, large as it was, had been chiefly among the working people. The dainty Parisians were inclined to criticise his, lack of the polish that they require in a literary man and overlook the message which he expressed in such straightforward, vigorous manner. But his great success in America has opened the eyes of the boulevardiers. 'La Vie Simple' is the cry, and French fashionable methods of life are beginning to change. The restaurauteurs are complaining because the big eaters who used to order a dozen courses for a meal now sit quietly in a corner and order a glass of milk. So far, the doctrines of "The Simple Life" seem to have been applied to diet chiefly. That is probably where they are most needed, but the rest will follow, for French enthusiasm rarely does anything by halves."—[Philadelphia Press.

FROM EUROPE.

Governments There Trying Now to Stem the Tide.

EMIGRATION

Character and Effect of Emigration Restriction Laws.

Tons of Mail Matter Sent Out by Agencies Destroyed.

VIENNA, Feb. 1.—Forty million people have left Europe in the past 100 years, seeking homes elsewhere, and yet it is only now that the European governments are making a serious effort to stem this tide of emigration. That the effort is serious is shown in the character of laws recently enacted and laws now pro-sidered a radical measure in that it assumed government supervision of citizen to fully satisfy his own government that he was a fit subject for emigration before he was allowed to leave. The law now proposed in Austria, and which will probably be out in force within thirty days, makes the Swiss law look mild and reasonthe Swiss law look mild and reasonable in comparison. It proposes not only to give the government supervision over emigrant traffic and over every citizen who proposes to emigrate, but it places in the hands of the authorities the right to say whether be shall go or not and by which route he shall leave the country, if he is finally permitted to depart.

The most serious flaw in all the finally permitted to depart.

The most serious flaw in all the emigration restriction laws of Europe today is that they do not restrict. The discontented, the adventurous, the criminal, or the refugee bids defiance to any law, which may be enacted to hold him in the country, and once outside the borders of his native land, it is merely a question of intelligence. outside the borders of his native land, it is merely a question of intelligence and money to reach the destination he has in mind. The threat that if he leaves without a permit he will be deprived of his citizenship and subjected to arrest and imprisonment if he returns has little weight with the man whose life is all in the future and whose particular ties have been weak. whose life is all in the future and whose particult cles have been weak-ened by oppression and half-starvation. There is nothing behind him and overything before him. If he leaves a family, he goes away with the intention of sending for them before long and thus regaining the only thing he values, which is sacrificed on him description.

fore long and thus regaining the only thing he values, which is sacrificed on his departure.

Over $00,000 people emigrated to the United States last year, but there would have been $00,000 more if the United States immigration law had not been in existence. Under the operations of that law perhaps less than 10,000 are actually refused admittance, but this does not include the many thousands who are left behind at European ports of embarkation because the steamship companies know that it is useless to attempt to get them into the United States, England, Denmark and one or two other countries actually have laws whereby funds can be raised by taxation for the purpose of deporting paupers, criminals and other undesirable persons, and it is only by the utmost vigilance that the United States is kept from becoming a dumping ground for all people objectionable or a source of expense to the European governments.

An immigration restriction law does

An immigration restriction law does restrict because the country enforcing it has the advantage of being able to repell all classes of invaders who are declared unlawful. A country that attempts to restrict emigration, however, would have to construct a Chinese wall around its territory, and maintain a cordon of armed troops thereupon to prevent the egress of its citizens.

tion laws of Europe are based upon the requirement of military service. This gives the government a police power over the people which could be obtained in no other way. Where military service is compulsory each be obtained in no other way. Where military service is compulsory each citizen upon attaining his twenty-first year owes a tangible debt to the state which the laws empower the state to collect, by force, if necessary. Some of the European governments are very strict in this matter, and citizens are actually prohibited from leaving the country until they have fulfilled their military obligation. Other governments are more lenient, and a citizen is allowed to depart if he agrees ernments are more lenient, and a cit-izen is allowed to depart if he agrees to come back upon demand and serve in the military arm of the govern-ment, the required term of years. In some cases, as in Switzerland, there is almost no restriction upon the emi-grant in this respect, and he is only expected to yield his military serv-ice if he hannens to be in his neity expected to yield his military service if he happens to be in his native iand at the time he is called upon. When the Italian emigration restriction law was enacted in 1901, there were 7000 transportation agents at work initialy soliciting emigration. The result of such competition as this was most tremendous and the life of the country was being sanned theough the country was being sapped through the emigration of every able-bodied man who could be induced to leave by those who were interested in selling him a ticket. The law cut the num-ber of these agents down to a few hundred, and so restricted the com-petitive efforts of those left as to remove a large incentive, which had hitherto been offered the population to go to a foreign country. In every European country today, with the single exception of England, it is illegal to advertise, inducements for emigra-tion, to solicit a citizen to emigrate or in any way to do more than merely accept the transportation business which offers itself to the agents. Of course, this law is not observed any more than is necessary to escape conflict with the police authorities, and many of the European agents take great risks of fine, imprisonment and loss of government license in their efforts to secure business.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

The police are constantly seizing tons of mail matter sent out by emigration agencies and destroying the same, and much reading matter is debarred from general distribution taking emigrants from Spanish ports to lie outside of the three-mile limit from shore, or, in other words, on the high seas, and have their passenthe high seas, and have their passen-gers brought out to them in small boats. Special instructions have been issued by the Spanish govern-ment to the police and marine author-ties at all ports to stop this traffic by arresting those apparently about to depart and by ascertaining, if pos-sible, the names of the vessels which sible, the names of the vessels which receive these people, so that steps may be taken the first time such vessels come to a Spanish port to mete out punishment to the captain. On the Mediterranean side of Spain, the sea is generally smooth and calm, and the vessels often take on passengers when they are practically out of sight of land, the boats in which they are carried to the ships being the ordinary small rowboats of the ports.

The Hungarian government, in its effort to control emigration, has gone so far as to withdraw all protection from any citizen who leaves the country by any route except through the port of Flume. The contract the government made with the Cunard Company last winter was at the bottom of the long and continued rate was between the trans-Atlantic lines which has just been brought to a close. It was due to the fact that through the contract with the Flum. which has just been brought to a close. It was due to the fact that through its contract with the Hungarian government, the Cunard Company established a new and direct line of steamers to the United States, a clause in the contract providing that the Hungarian government should divert all traffic possible through its Mediterranean port of Flume. The emigrant traffic of Hungary had previously gone to the north and found an outlet to the Atlantic through German poets. Hence the trouble between the German lines and the Cunard company.

The proposed law in Austria which will shortly go into effect also gives the government the power to direct the movement of travel, and as Austria and Hungary are in some sense a single government the German

a single government the German ports will in time lost a large amount of business which they now derive from Austrian territory. In fact, the Hungarian law has already been in-strumental in turning much traffic to the south, for while the action is not recognized as official yet, the po-lice along the northern frontier have received instructions which they are followin to turn about all emigra-tion en route to the north and force it through the southern ports.

The efforts of the European governments to restrict emigration are not confined to the making and enforcing of laws making it difficult for people to leave the country. A higher and more intelligent form of legislation more intelligent form of legislation has resulted from a realization of the terrible economic loss incurred in the annual emigration of hundreds of thousands of people. This emigration annual entigration of hundreds of thousands of people. This emigration is primarily due to bad conditions is primarily due to bad conditions and a serious attempt is being made in many localities to correct notorlous evils, furnish employment for the native population, and thus make it more desirable for people to remain at home. In Italy education is being made possible for the children of the peasants, and wherever possible taxes have been lowered so that industry, especially agriculture, may live. In loss of government license in their efforts to secure business.

The polic are constantly soiling tons of mail matter sent out by enigration agencies and destroying the barred from general distribution throughout many of the European countries on the ground that it contains attractive display advertisements of steambily and other transcaled and the contains attractive advertisements of foreign steambily companies, which may serve Austrian of the possibility of leaving his own country. Even emigration agencies authorized by the government and ended that too many of them contain attractive advertisements of foreign steambily companies, which may serve Austrian of the possibility of leaving his own country. Even emigration agencies authorized by the government are only allowed to publish the rate of fare and the time of saling proposes to organize an official information bureau which will give out such annoncement as to emigration possibilities on at it sees fit, and it is needless to expect, but that they will gip in their description of the possibilities of emigrants in foreign lands.

There is some guished services rendaced by Prof.

Pugh during the present campaign in this city and the marvelous work accomplished in saving souls; also the great wave of religious reform that is sweeping over this country and the British Isles, all of which originated in the remarkable revival that commenced in Sonth Wales a few months ago under the leadership of Evan Itoberts, formerly an obscure Welsh miner.

The stated programme concluded with another "englyn" dedicated to Prof. Pugh by R. G. Ellis, but the audience clamored so persistently for a solo and succeeding selections from the distinguished singer, that his "evening of rest" was seriously encrouched upon before the bountiful refreshments provided in the ante-rooms were indulged in.

Mrs. Pugh was also enthusiastically called upon to sing, but pleaded indisposition, and Prof. Pugh, for the fourth time, favored the audience with one of his patriotic and soul-atirring Welsh songs, which only a true-hearted anclent Briton can fully comprehend and appreciate.

If Prof. Pugh had adopted the profession of operatic singer, he would doubtless ere this have amassed a fortune, but he has for many years devoted his magnificent voice to the service of the Nazarene.

PICO HEIGHTS.

Because of the special efforts put forth by the church people in this part for the city, Evangelist C. T. Schaeffer will conduct a series of meetings every afternoon this week at the Methodist Church on the corner of Twelfth and Fedora streets. Yesterday afternoon the subject of "Habits" was taken up by the popular speaker, and the church was filled with boys and girls, for whom the front seats were reserved. Many of the parents were also present. This afternoon Rev. Mr. Schaeffer will speak on the "Cup of Life." Tuesday afternoon the subject will be "The Wordless Book," on Wednesday afternoon the boys will be told all about kites, and Thursday afternoon the girls will be entertained with a doll stoky illustrated with the real article. On Friday the subjects of the week will be gathered into a heart-searching meeting and the topic of the speaker will be "A New Heart." These meetings are especially for the children, but parents are also invited to be present. A chorus of boys and girls will sing, and the services will commence at 3:30 o'clock."

"Seeking Christ while you are young" was the topic of Dr. Biederwolf at the meeting for young people held yesterday afternoon in the University Methodist Church. The text was Chron.
xxxiv, 3: "While he was yet young he began to seek Christ"

The speaker began by pleading with the large number of young people before him to turn to Jesus before they had formed their habits and had become set in their ways.

"Old age is the harvest when we reap what we have sown," said Dr. Biederwoif earnestly, "Now if you will accept Christ while you are young your harvest will be that of joy and thanksgiving."

accept Christ while you are young your harvest will be that of joy and thanksgiving."

The athletic preacher told a story bearing upon his own life wherein a loved friend had forsaken the paths of rectifude and had wandered away into sin, ending by serving a sentence in the penitentiary.

The speaker was deeply affected as he said: "That young man was my boyhood friend and companion, and only by the grace of God was I saved a like fate."

Results were seen in the number of cards signed and as the personal workers moved among the throng of young people the effect of the words of the man who is conducting so successful a work out in the residence district was seen in the many uplifted hands. Fifty cards were signed and it is said a definite work was begun among the many who have not been reached thus far.

"If I should hold in my hand the photograph of almost any man in the audience when he was three years old, that man would almost break his neck climbing over the benches in an attempt to see the picture. I remind you at this moment that you are perhaps spending the priceless treasure of childhood's innocence in a life without Christ."

The speaker told a thrilling story of spending the priceless treasure of childhood's innocence in a life without Christ."

The speaker told a thrilling story of a young man who had left his home in the Sunny South and had come to New York City where in a large department store he had risen to a position of prominence. One day an old colored mammy had entered the store and seeing the young man had cried out, "There ds my boy." At first the young man had refused to recognize his black mother and had ordered her from the store. Finally the mother love in the boy conquered and calling the old woman back, he acknowledged her as his mother and received the commendation of his fellow workers.

"The father was white and the mother was black," said the speaker, "but the heart of the young man was noble and true."

The application of the story brought tears to the eyes of the men who gave a ready response to the earnest appeal of the evangelist at the close of the meeting hy raising their hands by scores asking for the prayers of the man of God, who on his knees before the throng spoke to the hearts of the bearers intently waiting upon his every word.

SIXTH DISTRICT RESULTS.

The meeting of the sixth district, like others of yesterday, was of a special nature, and last evening the church was filled in time for the song service, which was an interesting feature. Miss Mary Sturriss sang "Not I, But Christ," and Prof. Jeffrey and Mrs. Susie Brown sang a duet entitled "The City of Gold." Chorus and congregation then to including single "The Old tion then joined in singing "The Old Time Religion."

The theme of Evangelist Hobson was "The Value of Religion," and the texts chosen were from I. Corinthaus vii, 23: "Ye are bought with a prize," and from Galatians iii, 13: "Christ hath redeemed us."

Said the speaker: "If the present does not cost much it is not likely to be of much value. Even friendship is gauged by the price of a gift.

RELIGIOUS REVIVAL.

RELIGIOUS REVIVAL.

Today is the closing Sunday of the revival which has been conducted by the evangelical churches of the city during the past six weeks. During January Rev. Howard W. Pope, assisted by Singing Evangelist Newton, labored with much success. For the past two weeks Dr. Albert E. Fitch and Gus Schneider, an singers, have continued the services. Today special services were held in all the Sunday-schools, special sermons were preached by the pastors of the various churches, a children's meeting was held at 2 o'clock, a mass meeting at 3 o'clock, and the closing mass meeting at 7:39 o'clock in the evening.

FOR TODAY.

THE PROGRAMME. The PROGRAMMS.

The services for today will begin with a "good cheer" meeting at 11 o'clock this morning in the First Methodist Church, with Dr. Chapman in charge. The noon meeting at Blanch and Hall will be addressed by Dr. Biederwolf. There will be no afternoon services, but the regular evening meetings will be held in each of the soven districts.

READY REMINDER OF ERRORS IN USE OF COMMON WORDS, AR RANGED, ALPHABETICALLY.

[PUBLISHED IN THE TIMES BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.] BY EDWARD B. WARMAN, A.M.,

Author of 'Practical Orthospy and Critique
'The Voice: How to Train It; How to Care for It,' etc.) Don't say "anxiety of mind."

Example: "He has great anxiety of mind" should be "He has great anxiety."

Note—All anxiety being of the mind, the words "of mind" are super-prehend."

Note—One may apprehend that which he does not comprehend.
"We may apprehend many truths which we do not comprehend.—

Don't say "approbation" for "ap proval."
Note—The latter is the stronge term. One may have the approbation of his friends, but lack the approval of his conscience.

Don't say "approved of."

Example: "The decision was approved of by all" should be "The decision was approved by all."

Don't say "apt" for "liable" or Example: "He is apt to go astray should be "He is liable or he is Eke should be "He is made or he is likely to go astray."

Note—One may be apt in mathematics or in any special line of work or thought. One may be apt in going astray, but not apt to go astray.

Don't say "as soon as ever," Example: "Return as soon as ever you can" should be "Return as soon as you can."

Example: "This is not as long as the other" should be "This is not so long as the other."

Note—The negative in the sentence calls for "so" instead of "as." In the absence of the negative one should

Don't say "as" for "that."
Example: "Not as I am aware" should be "Not that I am aware." "I dont know as I would do so" should Note—Also avoid the expression so often used, "Not that I am aware of."

Don't say "as though" for "as if."
Example: "He walks as though he were tired" should be "He walks as if as were tired."
Note—The former reads, "He walks as (he would walk) though he were tired;" the latter reads as it should—"He walks as (he would walk) if he were tired."

Don't say "at" for "by." Example: "You should see Yo-semite at night" should be "You should see Yosemite by night."

Don't say "at all."
Note—There are times when the words "at all" are allowable, but in the majority of cases in which they the used they are superfluous.

Example: "He did not see me at all" shauld be "He did not see me."

Don't say "at best" for "at the Example: "They are at best but poor specimens" should be "They are at the best but poor specimens." Don't say "at length" for "at last."

Example: "At length we say him approaching" should be "At last we saw him approaching."

Note—One might approach at length; but this is not the meaning the speaker intended to convey.

Don't say "at worst" for "at the worst."

Example: "Even at worst, he is grateful" should be "Even at the worst, he is grateful."

Don't say "authoress," buttress, "poetess," "waitress," etc.
Example: "She is an authoress, an editress and a poetess" should be "She is an author, an editor and a poet."

Note—The adding of ess, inasmuch as it is to designate the sex, is always superfluous when the personal pronoun "she" is used, as in the foregoing examples.

Also when the appellation Miss or

Mrs. is given.

Example: "Mrs. Browning is a poetess" should be "Mrs. Browning is a poet." "Mrs. Stowe is an authoress" should be "Mrs. Stowe is an author." "Miss Hamilton is an editress" should be "Miss Hamilton editress" should be "Miss Hamilton is an editor."

Example: "An editress called on you today." "A poetess called on you today."
Note — The foregoing expressions are correct, as neither the personal pronoun nor the appellation is

It is strange to what a ludicrous extent the adding of an ess is carried. The editors of Webster's International Dictionary have coined the word "mayoress," "the wife of a mayor." Don't say "avocation" for "vocation."

Example: "He is well pleased with his avocation" should be "He is well pleased with his vocation."

Note—That is, if reference is made to his regular line of work. An avocation is a vacation from one's vocation.

Don't say "avful."

Note—Don't say awful unless you mean awful, i. c., awe full. Avoid sheh expressions as "awful nice," "awful cheap." "awful bad," awful sorry," "awful sick." etc.

Twere well, also, to be guarded in the use of the adjectives splendid, beautiful, gorgeous, terrible, etc.

All of them are right when rightly used; but they are not so used in the following phrases: "A splendid time," "a beautiful voice," "a gorgeous day," "a terrible easy time."

Don't say "bad cough."

Example: "He has a very bad cough," should be "He has a severy cough."

Note: No one has a good cough.

Don't say "can" for "may." Example: "Can I close my school Note: No one has a good cough.

Don't say "badly" for "bad." Example: "I'm feeling badly, to-Example: "I'm feeling badly, to-lay," should be "I'm feeling bad," or der."

Example: "The balance of the day was stormy." should be "The remainder of the day was stormy."

Note: One may correctly say "Balance my account." or "What is the balance of my account?"

Don't say "banister" for "baluster." Example: "He leaned over the banister," should be "He leaned over the baluster."—Worc.

"I'm not feeling well," or "I'm well," or "I'm ill."

Note: It were better to use some other word in the place of bad, yet of the two evils choose the lesser.

Example: "Seventeen out of the forty that were inmates, barely escaped with their lives," should be "Seventeen out of the forty that were inmates, barely escaped."

Note: If they escaped (barely, or not,) they must have escaped with their lives.

Don't say "beautifully" for "beau-Example: "She looks beautifully," should be "She looks beautiful."

Don't say "beg" for "beg leave."
Example: "I beg to inform you, should be "I beg leave to inform you."

Don't say "begun" for "began." Example: "They begun promptly, should be "They began promptly."

Don't say "behave" for "be good." Example: "I shall expect you to behave," should be "I shall expect you to Note: To ask or to command one to behave is indefinite, as one may be-have well or otherwise. A child prom-ises a teacher to behave during the teacher's absence. No matter how bad the child has been, he can truth-

Don't say "better of the two." Example: "Which apple is the bet-ter of the two?" should be "Which ap-ple is the better?" Note: The use of the word bet-ter implies comparison, therefore "of the two" is superfluous.

Don't say "between" for "among." Example: "The fight was between seven of them." should be "The fight was among seven of them." Note: Do not use the word between when the number exceeds two.

Don't say "bit" for "any."
Example: "Will you not take a bit less?" should be "Will you not take any less?"

Note: I heard a man in California ask an expressman if he would not take a bit less than the amount charged. The man addressed, unac-customed to the Yankeelsm, became indignant; a bit to him was 12% blamed."

Example: "He blamed it on the ondustor," should be "He blamed scused) the conductor."

Don't say "blowed" for "blew" Example: "He blowed the bugle when in the army" should be "He lew the bugle when in the army," or
"He was a bugler when in the army."

Don't say "both alike" for "alike." Example: "They were both alike," should be "They were alike." Don't say "both recalled" for Example: "The two bors both re-called having met," should be "The two boys recalled having met." Don't say "bound" for "determined." Example: "He was bound to inter-ere" should be "He was determined

Don't say "bravery" for "courage."
Example: "He is a brave man."
should be "He is a courageous man."
Note: Don't say so unless you really mean bravery. The words are not synonymous. A man may be brave by nature (as bravery is inborn) but courage comes by cultivation. A brave man is often a reckless man, a courageous man is gnerally a cautious one.

Don't say "brickbat" for "brick." Note: A brickbat is a piece of brick Don't say "buffalo" for "bison." Note: In North America bison; in India, buffalo.

Don't say "bug" for "insect." Note: All insects are not bugs; all oùgs are insects.

Don't say "bursted" for "burst."
Example: "The boiler bursted," should be "The boiler burst."
Note: there is no word bursted, nence, it should not be used in any

Don't say "but that" for "that." Example: "I do not know but he gone," should be 'I do not know he is gone."

Don't say "but" for "than."

Example: "The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving the same at this office." should be "the finder will be liberally rewarded when leaving the same at this office."

Note: His reward does not consist in the act of leaving it, except the reward may come to him through his conscience.

Don't say "calculates" for "intenda" or "purposes." Example: "He calculates going to college," should be "he intends, or purposes, going to callege."

Note: He may have to calculate in regard to the expenses.

Example: "Can I close my school earlier tomorrow in order to get there in time," should be "May I close my school earlier tomorrow in order to get there in time."

While Japanese ladles never committed hari kari, the honorable equivalent was death by a stab in the neck from her own dirk, a weapon which she generally carried in her girdle to be used in time of need.

Where a Roman dame would in ancient times have plunged her dagger into ther own heart, a Japanese heroine preferred to thrust the weapon into her neck, and there is no record of either male or female in Japan ending existence in the fashion that is so oftn depicted in Western novels and less frequently, permaps, in real life.—[Nineteenth Century.

NEW SCHOOLHOUSE DEDICATED. ORANGE, Feb. 12.—The members of the German Lutheran Church dedithe German Lutheran Church dedi-cated their new schoolhouse here to-day. There was an impressive service in German in the morning, conducted by the regular paistor, Rev. Jacob Kogier, and an English service in the ftermoon, at which Rey. Lusky of Anheim officiated. Mr. Lusky presched most convincing serimon concerning responsibility of parents in the hristian rearing of their children. He action with the services were well attended, escicially in the afternoon, when over a hundred people were present. At its church the members adhere atriction the religious form of worship as beerved in the mother country, chantage the hymns in unison, to the accompaniment of the pipe organ, and standard during prayers. The schoolhouse, aduring prayers. The schoolhouse, hich is known as St. John's Farochial chool, is a two-story frame structure, obtaining three large school rooms, and accented assement, sultable for a symnashm or kyrnom. The cost of the structure of the property of the board. sent about 50° persons, and a cemented basement, suitable for a symmasium or playroom. The cost of the structure was about $500, all contributed by members of the parish. There are wide halfs and cloakrooms on both floors, and the schoolrooms are well turnished with modern equipments for school work, which commences on Monday. The church property is composed of four lots, each 55x150 feet, fronting on Olive street. Besides the new schoolhouse, the large parish church, which will seat over six hundred people, stands on the southern side of the grounds, making two imposing buildings of which the Germans of this section are justic proud.

SANTA BARBARA, Feb. 12.—The oddest bet on record is said to have been made on the result of the coming baseball game between two teams of the local lodge of Elks. The married Elks are to play the single members of the lodge in this city on, Washington's birthday, and the proceeds are to be donated to charitable purposes. Edward Gourley, who plays with the single men, bets that his side will win the game. If he loses he has agreed to get married within ten days after the game. A prominent dentist of this game. A prominent dentiat of this city, who plays on the married men's team, has wagered on his side that if he loses he agrees to file a suit for divorce within ten days after the divorce within ten days after the game. He has requested that his name be withheld from publication, as the bet might make matrimonial difficulties before the game. The Elks are hunting for an umpire, who must possess unusual qualities. Besides having a thorough understanding of the game he must be a divorced man. A few days ago it was thought that the proper man had been secured, as he appeared to answer all the requirements, but it was discovered that he had only an interlocutory decree of divorce. his matrimonial troubles having come within the past year. The single men insist that he is still a matried man in the eyes of the law, and so, it is contended, he cannot give the baschelors a square deal in a contest of this kind. A bona fide grass-widower is badly wanted, and failing to find one the job may be given to a good-looking grass-widow, provided she "sawvies" the game.

Further details of the trouble be-tween Nathan Bentz, the Japanese cutween Nathan Bentz, the Japanese cu-rio dealer of this city and Los Ange-les, and the customs officers, in which the former is charged with underval-uing imported goods, have been re-ceived here. VENTURA. Feb. 12.—Extensive repairs are contemplated in the Superior Courtroom at the Courthouse. In one of the retent heavy storms the roof of the building started a leak and the seeping water played havoe in the courtroom. The late grand jury recommended repairs, but the Supervisors had already taken the matter up with Contractor Shaw, who will shortly begin repair and renovation. Several changes will be made. The jury box is to be enlarged and made more convenient, the audience end of the room will be fitted with inclined floor and more seats installed; the room will be newly thted and decorated, and when completed will compare favorably with other courtrooms in Southern California.

the Initial Journey Over the New Route.

The special train made up of the private cars of Vice-President J. Ross Clark and General Manager R. E. Wells of the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Sait Lake Railrond, which made the initial through trip over the new route, arrived in this city at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon after an uneventful run over the last stage of the journey from Daggett to Los Angeles.

The trip was greatly enjoyed by the entire party, the personnel of which has heretofore been published in The Times. The start from Sait Lake City was made at 7 o'clock last Thursday morning, and as it was intended as a tour of inspection, rather than a speed trial, most of the traveling was done by daylight. The first night out was spent at Caliente, New, the second at Las Vegas, and Saturday night at Daggett, which marks the southern end of the new construction just completed.

Leaving Daggett yesterday morning, the train proceeded over the Santa Fé tracks, through the Cajon Pass. to San Bernardino, where the wheels once more touched Sait Lake rais, and rolled over the splendid track of that company to this city.

Remarkably fast time was made over the newly-said track through the Nevada-California desert, considering the freshness of the roadded and the heavy rains to which it has lately been subjected. All of the officials of the road who miade the first continuous journey over the entire line, yesterday expressed themselves as more than pleased with the condition of the road.

The proceeds will go to the Pasadena Children's Training Society, and so admirably have the arrangements been made, that through the courtesy of Col. G. G. Green, who sives the use of Hotel Green, there will be practically no expanses save for the simple collation which will be served. Thus the major part of all that is taken in will go directly to the charlity. There will be ample accommodation for all of the spectators who would enjoy looking on.

The vaudeville performance which is to be given this evening at Hotel Green, under the auspices of Mra. Henry Vilas and Mrs. L. C. Davis is given exclusively for the pleasure of the guests of the house. The auditorium is not large enough to accommodate outsiders, much as it is regretted by the management. The programme will be unique, and, as all the talent is from the hotel, much fan is anticipated.

CATALINA ISLAND.

PICNIC PARTY MAROONED. AVALON, Feb. 12.—This winter on the island has been one marked by a peculiar absence of storms. The season has about passed in which any sort of a blow that would affect the boating may be looked for. There have been but two or three days in which the launches hereabouts could not ply without much inconvenience. This moraling opened pleasant and balmy and several fishing parties went tout, but about 16 o'clock the wind came in from the northeast and began to kick up quite a sea. The fishing parties hurried in, and the Lady Lou, which had a large party out to view the marine gardens and gather moonstones at Moonstone Beach, hastened back. Capt. Walton of the launch Nettle W., had a party of nine picnickers at Buttonshell Beach, and did not observe the coming of the storm until the sea was so rough that the passengers were afraid to embark for the return trip, and they are at present naroonea on the beach walting for the wind and waves to lull. The Ramona has gone to their assistance. AVALON, Feb. 12.-This winter on

LANDWEHR ON WARPATH.

SAN DIMAS, Feb. 12.—For many years the people of this place have spent money in litigation over water rights, not only on account of water under the ground, but also storm water on the surface, for in time of heavy rains there have been men so inconsulterate as to turn storm water from 'ta natural channel to the injury of their neighbors. However, these natters have been settled by the courts and San Dimas was congratulating "two that it was at last out of "hot water," but events of the last few days have blasted all these fond ideas, and Los Angeles county will now be made defendant in a lawfult which H. A. Landewelr threatens to bring against it. All because a road overseer, J. F. Wire, did his duty.

Landwehr recently acquired some property on the outskirts of this town and at once began to fan things to sait himself. A few days ago Wire found Landwehr's men constructing a dam across a channel on the county road, which dam, when completed, would divert the storm water from its natural channel, not only to the injury of the road, but to the great damage to the valuable orange groves of Charter Oak. Wire's remonstrances were met with the laconic injunction to "go to bell."

Landwehr's man Friday, one Winston, said he was a personal friend of Supervisor Longden; that the latter owed his present position to him, and he should do just as he pleased.

Wire telephoned to Longden about his "friend" and the Supervisor's reply was: "Never mind my friends; we must do our duty you do yours and I will stand by you. With this backing Wire yesterdays served legal notice on Landwehr to remove the obstruction, the penalty being sile per day while it remains there. Wire found Landwehr at the Santa F's station and the interview was warm. Landwehr took threat one of a collision.

Later in the day the obstruction was removed by Landwehr's men and the ranchers of Charter Oak could albe damned.

Petalite and Actinolite.

SOLDIERS' HOME (Cal.) Feb. 7,
1905.—To the Editor of The Times:]
Would you please inform me in your
"In the Earth" (1) the use of petalite and what its commercial value is?
(2.) What is actinolite used for and its commercial value?
Raspectfully, J. R. (subscriber.)
ANSWER: (4.) Petalite is a silicate of aluminum, its component parts 2.57; soda, 0.67—100. Its commercial value, for saits of lithium, is very low indeed. Petalite is a variety of spodumene. (2.) Magnesim—lime—from amphibole (actinolite.) color bright or grayish green. "In crystals, either short or lovg-bladed, as in tremolite; columnar or fibrous; granular massive. Density 3 to 3.2. Sometimes transparent. Contains magnesin and lime, with some Iron protoxide, but seldom more than 6 per cent; carrying calcium, magnesium, iron, oxygen and silica." It is of the hornblende family, and, commercially, of but little value.

Tungsten.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 6, 1905.—(To the Editor of The Times:) If not asking too much, will you kindly publish some information on the subject of "Tungsten," and its commercial value as a mineral. The books tell us all about the method of assaying and how the mineral looks, but do not say anything about the demand for it in this country, or whether it is produced in any large quantities or not. Also the method of extraction in bulk, treatment of the ore as generally mined, etc. etc. What percentage of tungstic acid must ore contain to make it pay for mining. Even the encyclopedias give very little information about it.

If you kindly refer us to the issue containing the information, and oblige, Very truly yours.

F. M. M. & S. CO.,

Per J. H. P., secretary.

ANSWER: Tungsten is a metal obtained principally from the minerals wolframite, hubnerite and scheelite. "Assaying" applied to tungsten ores is a misnomer. "The books" usually tell us all about methods of extraction, etc., about four years after successful work-philosophy were explained yesterday afternoon by Dr. Alexander J. McIvorafternoon by Dr. Alexander J. McIvor-Triodali in his lecture at Blanchard's Hall on "Mysteries Explained." "The only thing that makes for mystery is ignorance, unfamiliarity," said the speaker. "Mysteries are somly good to be solved, and just now there is a universal desire to probe into the mysteries of the human mind, the human emotions and the human actions. As we grow in wisdom we find that what we had deemed mysterious and unfathemable becomes clear as the noonday cun. The solutions of the present mysteries will come in their own good time."
